Who is Euna Permits™?

Euna Permits™ works with some of the largest cities in the country, saving hundreds of thousands of hours of staff time and making it easier to navigate the permitting and licensing process. Our software calculates detailed land use codes, permit and license requirements, and application fees, so applicants get a comprehensive overview of their project and begin the process by being more informed.

When permitting is easy for everyone and staff are free to apply their expertise to challenging projects, a new picture emerges at City Hall: one where staff collaborate with the people in their community to turn ideas and projects into realities—and in the process, to help their communities thrive.
