COLLEGE WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

Talent depth starts with JuJu Watkins

Cydney Henderson
USA TODAY

March Madness is rapidly approaching, and the women's field is wide open.

No. 1 Texas, No. 2 Southern Cal, No. 3 UConn, No. 4 UCLA, No. 5 South Carolina and No. 6 Notre Dame have emerged as top contenders for the NCAA Tournament title, but there isn't a clear favorite.

The USC Trojans have wins over UCLA and UConn but lost to Notre Dame.

UConn lost to Notre Dame and USC but blew out South Carolina.

South Carolina also had losses against UCLA but split the regular-season series against Texas.

Texas also dropped a game against Notre Dame.

You get the picture; it's anyone's game.

The NCAA Tournament championship is going to come down to stellar performances from the best players on the court. Who are those players?

The top 10 women's players with March Madness less than two weeks away (stats entering Wednesday):

Southern Cal's JuJu Watkins averaged 24.4 points, 6.7 rebounds and 3.6 assists during the regular season. ROBERT HANASHIRO/IMAGN IMAGES

10. Mikayla Blakes, Vanderbilt

2024-25 stats: 23.3 PPG, 3.5 RPG, 3.1 APG, 2.5 SPG, 46.4 FG%, 35 3PT% (30 games)

The freshman guard etched her name in the history books when she broke the NCAA freshman single-game scoring record with 53 points in Vanderbilt's 99-86 win over Florida on Jan. 3. She broke the record again with 55 in the Commodores' 98–88 overtime win over Auburn in February. Blakes was named the SEC's Freshman of the Year and was named a finalist for the Naismith Hall of Fame's Ann Meyers Drysdale Award, given to the nation's top shooting guard.

9. Georgia Amoore, Kentucky

2024-25 stats: 18.8 PPG, 2.1 RPG, 6.9 APG, 42.4 FG%, 32.2 3PT% (28 games)

New division, no problem. Amoore followed former Virginia Tech head coach Kenny Brooks to Kentucky, and the move proved beneficial for Amoore. The 5-foot-6 guard scored in double digits in all but one game this season and leads the SEC in assists per game (6.9). Amoore, who is third in the nation with 192 total assists on the season, is 18 away from setting a single-season record at Kentucky. She was rightfully named the SEC's Newcomer of the Year.

8. Ta'Niya Latson, Florida State

2024-25 stats: 25.4 PPG, 4.5 RPG, 4.7 APG, 2.2 SPG, 45.8 FG%, 35.5 3PT% (26 games)

Latson is the top scorer in the nation at 25.4 points per game and is a key piece to the Seminoles having the highest-scoring offense in the country (88.2 ppg). Latson has recorded at least 20 points in 23 of 26 games this season. She had six 30-point games and a career-high 40-point performance against Virginia Tech on Jan. 2. Latson became the fastest player in Florida State basketball history to score 2,000 points this season and picked up her third All-ACC first-team selection. She's also a finalist for the Ann Meyers Drysdale Award.

7. Aneesah Morrow, LSU

2024-25 stats: 18.2 PPG, 14 RPG, 1.4 APG, 2.5 SPG, 48.5 FG%, 27.6 3PT% (30 games)

Angel Reese's departure from LSU left Barbie-sized shoes to fill in Baton Rouge. Morrow has stepped up this season. The 6-foot-1 forward is a double-double machine who leads the nation in rebounds per game (14) and double-doubles (26). Morrow is LSU's second-leading scorer, behind guard Flau'Jae Johnson (18.9 ppg). The Tigers are looking to rebound after dropping their final two games of the regular season to Alabama and Ole Miss, marking the team's first back-to-back losses of the season.

6. Madison Booker, Texas

2024-25 stats: 16 PPG, 6.5 RPG, 2.9 APG, 1.6 SPG, 46.4 FG%, 41.7 3PT% (30 games)

Texas earned the No. 1 ranking in the latest USA TODAY Sports Coaches Poll, in large part thanks to Booker's sophomore campaign. The 6-foot-1 forward recorded 20 or more points in 11 games this season and increased her efficiency from the 3-point line, improving from 30.6% beyond the arc to 41.7% this season. Texas may have lost the No. 1 seed in the SEC tournament to South Carolina by way of a coin toss, but the Longhorns head into the postseason with momentum after six wins in row against ranked opponents, including South Carolina, LSU and Kentucky. Booker averaged 21.5 points in that span and was named the SEC's Player of the Year. The Longhorns will be looking to improve on their Elite Eight finish last season.

5. Lauren Betts, UCLA

2024-25 stats: 19.7 PPG, 9.9 RPG, 2.7 APG, 2.8 BPG, 62.4 FG% (26 games)

The 6-foot-7 center is a dominant force in the paint and was unanimously named the Big Ten Defensive Player of the Year after setting UCLA's single-season blocks record (73). She also broke the university's single-game blocks record with nine blocked shots in UCLA's win over Baylor on Jan. 20. Betts is averaging a career-high 2.8 blocks per game, the most in the conference, and her 9.9 rebounds per game marks a career high. She had 16 double-doubles this season. UCLA ended the season with a disappointing 80-67 loss to USC, where Betts was held to 11 points and 11 rebounds on her home court, but the Bruins will attempt to shake off the thumping and make it further than their Sweet 16 finish in last year's NCAA Tournament.

4. Olivia Miles, Notre Dame

2024-25 stats: 16.5 PPG, 6.1 RPG, 5.9 APG, 50.9 FG%, 41.6 3PT% (29 games)

Miles missed the entire 2023-24 season due to a knee injury but made a statement in her first game back with a 20-point, 10-rebound and 10-assist triple-double to open the season on Nov. 4. She became the first player in ACC history to record back-to-back triple-doubles a month later against Loyola and Virginia. Miles' three triple-doubles lead the nation. The floor general also leads the ACC in assists per game (5.9). Notre Dame stumbled to the finish line, dropping back-to-back games to North Carolina State and Florida State in late February, but expect Miles to dazzle in her first NCAA Tournament since 2023.

3. Hannah Hidalgo, Notre Dame

2024-25 stats: 24.2 PPG, 5.3 RPG, 3.8 APG, 3.7 SPG, 46.4 FG%, 40.1 3PT% (27 games)

Notre Dame's backcourt has been the best in women's basketball all season, so you can't have Miles on the list of best players without also having her partner-in-crime. Hidalgo is the third-leading scorer in the nation at 24.2 points per game and ranks fourth in the country in steals (3.7 per game). Hidalgo was named the ACC's Player of the Year and Defensive Player of the Year (for the second consecutive season), becoming only the third player in ACC history to win both in the same season.

2. Paige Bueckers, UConn

2024-25 stats: 18.6 PPG, 5.0 APG, 4.5 RPG, 53.4 FG%, 40.8 3PT% (29 games)

The 2025 WNBA draft isn't called the Paige Bueckers sweepstakes for nothing. Bueckers burst onto the scene in 2021 with a breakout freshman campaign that earned her Associated Press Player of the Year and Naismith College Player of the Year honors. Although a string of injuries forced Bueckers to miss significant time, including the entire 2022-23 season with an ACL tear, the fifth-year senior guard has returned to form and is looking to lead the Huskies to the Final Four for the fourth time in her career. Bueckers is currently UConn women's basketball's sixth all-time leading scorer with 2,223 points and is widely expected to be the No. 1 overall pick of the draft.

1. JuJu Watkins, Southern Cal

2024-25 stats: 24.4 PPG, 6.7 RPG, 3.6 APG, 42.9 FG%, 33.9 3PT% (28 games)

Watkins cemented herself as the best player in college women's basketball with a dominant 30-point performance in USC's 80-67 win over rival UCLA to claim the regular-season title and No. 1 seed in the Big Ten Conference tournament. She went on to be named Big Ten Player of the Year for good reason. Watkins became the fastest USC player to reach 1,000 career points (38 games) in November and has the Trojans primed for a run at the national championship after winning eight straight games against ranked opponents, including UConn, UCLA and Maryland. Did we mention she's only a sophomore?

NBC keeps Olympics through ’36 in new deal

Tom Schad
USA TODAY

NBC and the International Olympic Committee announced Thursday that they have reached a $3 billion deal to extend and expand their long-running partnership.

The new deal, which was approved by the IOC’s executive board Wednesday, will go into effect this year and give NBC exclusive U.S. broadcasting rights across platforms – including its streaming service, Peacock, which has played a more prominent role in the network’s programming in recent Games. It also adds four more years to NBC’s previous broadcasting deal, ensuring that the network will be the U.S. television home of the Summer and Winter Olympics through at least the 2036 Summer Games.

“There is no event like the Olympics. Its power to bring joy, and the unifying spirit it embodies, are truly unique,” Comcast chairman and chief executive officer Brian Roberts said in a statement. “We live in a time when technology is driving faster and more fundamental transformation than we’ve seen in decades. This groundbreaking, new, long-term partnership between Comcast NBCUniversal and the International Olympic Committee not only recognises this dynamic but anticipates that it will accelerate.”

SANDY HOOPER/USA TODAY

NBC has become nearly synonymous with the Games for the better part of the past three decades. The network has televised every iteration of the Summer Olympics since 1988 and added Winter Games broadcasting rights in 2002. (The network’s parent company, Comcast, is also a major sponsor of Team USA.)

The company’s investments in Olympic coverage over the years have also come with a massive price tag. Prior to the $3 billion deal announced Thursday, NBC’s rights deal with the IOC, signed in 2014, was valued at $7.75 billion and had been scheduled to run through 2032.

The new TV rights deal comes as the U.S. is slated to host two of the next five iterations of the Olympics: the 2028 Summer Games in Los Angeles and the 2034 Winter Games in Salt Lake City. And it comes on the heels of a strong performance last summer in Paris. NBC said its coverage reached an average of 67 million total viewers per day during the Olympics and featured 23.5 billion minutes of streaming on Peacock, where it experimented with approaches like a real-time highlights show and content involving non-athlete influencers.

“The media landscape is evolving rapidly and, by partnering with one of the world’s leading media and technology companies, we will ensure that fans in the United States are able to experience the Olympic Games like never before,” outgoing IOC president Thomas Bach said in a statement.

IOC members are due to elect Bach’s replacement in Greece next week.

Putting change helps Glover take early Players lead

Adam Schupak
Golfweek | USA TODAY NETWORK

PONTE VEDRA BEACH, Fla. – Lucas Glover was asked by a TV reporter to name the secret to his success on Thursday at the first round of The Players Championship. Glover looked in the camera, smiled widely, and said, “Hit a lot of fairways, made some putts.”

That usually works at the Stadium Course at TPC Sawgrass, and thanks to finishing with four birdies in the final four holes, he was the clubhouse leader at 6-under-par 66, two strokes better than Bud Cauley, Alex Smalley, Stephan Jaeger and Aaron Rai.

Glover switched to a long putter in 2023 and resurrected his career, winning twice that season. But the putter has been more of a foe than a friend so far this season with the exception of one great putting day at Pebble Beach that contributed to a T-3 finish. On Thursday, he made nine birdies and three bogeys and kept the momentum with a few clutch par putts.

“I haven’t seen a bunch go in like that in a long time, so it was a really good feeling,” he said.

It didn’t hurt that he made a subtle but effective change with his putting. On Tuesday afternoon, he adjusted his address and how he walks into the ball.

“I went back to how I put the putter down with the short putter instead of the opposite. I got a little too square. I see straight when I’m standing crooked,” he said. “I got comfortable out there really quick.”

Glover missed an 8-foot putt at the first hole but blamed the read, not the stroke. He made four birdies on the front nine against one bogey, including a nifty three-quarter wedge at the ninth to 9 feet for a birdie. He hit 11 of 14 fairways, but a miss at No. 12 resulted in his second straight bogey. He settled down and finished with a flourish. At No. 15, he drew an 8-iron from 164 yards to 5 feet and drained the putt. He chipped close to set up a short birdie at 16 and remembered how he had over-read a similar putt at 17 in a previous year and canned an 18-foot birdie at the par-3 17th. He capped off the day with his fourth straight birdie at 18.

Lucas Glover watches his tee shot at No. 3 during the first round of The Players. DOUG ENGLE/FLORIDA TIMES-UNION

Glover is making his 17th appearance in The Players Championship. In 2018, his wife, Krista, was charged with battery (domestic violence) and resisting an officer without violence after he shot 78 in the third round of The Players and missed the 54-hole cut. Both Lucas and his mother had visible injuries due to the altercation, according to the police report. She got 12 months’ probation and agreed to complete 25 hours of community service.

Glover, 45, said he is as motivated as ever to keep playing the type of golf that has helped win six times, including the U.S. Open.

“Kind of just don’t want to be done at 45, honestly. As you know, ’21 I said it over and over told me I could do it and then 2023 after changing to the long putter and proving myself there, and now it’s – you know, I deep down believe I can still compete out here at 45 and I don’t want to stop anytime soon,” he said.

Not everyone found the Pete Dye layout to be friendly for making birdies. Major winners Justin Thomas, Gary Woodland and Matt Fitzpatrick shot 78, Max Homa posted 79 and Viktor Hovland signed for 80.

“That’s the thing about this place is there’s always some really good scores and always some really bad scores. It’s razor thin. The margins are razor thin here,” Glover said. “You get off just a little, you can make big numbers in a hurry.”

NOTICE OF PUBLIC SALE
DATE: March 26, 2025
TIME: 9.00 a.m. (Eastern Time)
PLACE: Chipman Brown Cicero & Cole, LLP, Hercules Plaza, 1313 North Market Street, Suite 5400, Wilmington, Delaware 19801 (“Public Auction”)

Pursuant to Sections 610, 611 and 613 of the New York Uniform Commercial Code (N.Y. Uniform Commercial Code Law §§ 9-610, 9-611 and 9-613), HSBC Bank PLC in its capacity as the secured party (“Secured Party”) (i) under that certain Senior Secured Revolving Credit Agreement, dated as of December 2, 2022 (as amended, restated, supplemented or otherwise modified from time to time “HSBC Credit Agreement,” together with all other related documents, the “Loan Documents”) and (ii) under that certain Senior Secured Term Loan Credit Agreement, dated as of April 14, 2022 (as amended, restated, supplemented or otherwise modified from time to time), hereby gives notice that it will conduct a public disposition of all “Collateral” comprised of intellectual property in electrode design and process development, on the date and at the time stated above.

The Collateral will be sold free and clear of the Secured Party’s interests and all interests, liens, encumbrances and claims that are junior to the Secured Party’s interests. Limited additional information about the Collateral may be obtained by (i) contacting Stuart Brown, Rachel Albanese and Oksana Koltko Rosaluk at DLA Piper LLP (US) via email at Stuart.Brown@us.dlapiper.com, Rachel.Albanese@us.dlapiper.com and Oksana.KoltkoRosaluk@us.dlapiper.com, and (ii) executing and delivering the Secured Party’s form of nondisclosure agreement.

At the Public Auction, the Secured Party will offer the Collateral for sale as a single unit to the highest qualified bidder, in order to maximize the sale proceeds. To qualify as a bidder at the Public Auction, a proposed purchaser must, not later than seventy-two (72) hours before the date and time scheduled for the Public Auction, deposit immediately available funds in an amount equal to ten percent (10%) of the proposed bid (“Deposit”) into the account that the Secured Party establishes for the purpose of holding funds of potential bidders (“Deposit Account”). If a qualified bidder’s offer is accepted by the Secured Party at the Public Auction (the “Successful Bidder”), then the Successful Bidder shall be bound by its offer and shall transfer the full amount of such successful bid less the Deposit to the Secured Party before conclusion of the Public Auction. Any funds deposited into the Deposit Account by a non-successful bidder shall be returned to each respective non-successful bidder within forty-eight (48) hours after the conclusion of the Public Auction.

Secured Party, either directly or indirectly through nominees or assigns, reserves the right to credit bid at the Public Auction, without making a deposit to the Deposit Account as required for other bidders. Secured Party may credit bid all or part of the obligations secured by the Collateral, and to take title after the Public Auction through one or more nominees or assigns. The Public Auction may be cancelled, postponed or continued at any time, without further notice, at the Secured Party’s discretion. Any sales, use or other taxes or filing, recording, transfer or similar fees will be responsibility of the successful bidder. Bids must be in writing and will be subject to the terms of a Bill of Sale, substantially in the form to be provided by the Secured Party, which the purchaser will be required to acknowledge. This Public Auction is with reserve, meaning that each bid is merely an offer, and is not binding unless and until accepted by the Secured Party.

THE SALE OF THE COLLATERAL SHALL BE “AS IS,” “WHERE IS,” “WITH ALL FAULTS,” WITHOUT ANY EXPRESS OR IMPLIED WARRANTIES OR ANY REPRESENTATIONS. THERE ARE NO WARRANTIES OR REPRESENTATIONS THAT EXTEND BEYOND THE DESCRIPTION ON THE FACE HEREOF.

The Debtor is entitled to an accounting of the unpaid indebtedness secured by the Collateral, which the Debtor may obtain, at such cost as may be determined by Secured Party, by contacting Secured Party’s representative set forth above.
